WHY SCHWARBER ANCHORS THE CARD ▶ Leads MLB with 32 home runs at the break — most raw in-season power in the field ▶ Citizens Bank Park is his home yard: 45,000 Philly fans and total familiarity with the batter's eye ▶ New swing-count format rewards efficient, repeatable swings over stamina — his specialty ▶ Priced +310 (mkt ~22% after vig) — we make it closer to 27%	WHY THE VOLUME PROPS ▶ Bonus rule (keep swinging while you homer) inflates totals vs old timed format ▶ July night in Philly — ball carries; experts backing longest-HR overs for this park ▶ Schwarber R1 over 10.5 needs just 11 of 20+ swings out — he hit 16 in a 2022 round ▶ Rice over 9.5 (VSiN lean): compact lefty swing built for the 330-ft RF corner

Card logic. Bets 1, 2 and 7 are mutually exclusive — at most one outright cashes, which is why the four props carry $575 of the budget. The anchor thesis is simple: the best home-run hitter in baseball, in his own ballpark, in a format that rewards exactly his swing. Caminero is the hedge at better-than-fair value coming off a 44-homer derby. The props lean on the structural edge — the new bonus-swing rule and a July night in a hitter's park both push totals up, and the market hasn't fully priced it. Expected wins ≈ 2.8 of 7 · EV ≈ +$82. Schwarber-wins-plus-props night returns ≈ $2,000.
